HIGHLIGHTS OF 1985

Presbyterian College ranked among the nation's best in an appraisal by the magazine U. S. News & World Report.

With its $1.6 million renovation completed last August, Springs Campus Center became the hub of extracurricular activities.

The year 1985 also saw an acceleration of funds for the next big renovation project: to restore old Jacobs Hall into a topflight academic center.

Freshman applications reached a high of almost 1,000 for the 1985-86 session and assured PC's third largest student body of 931.

And as the calendar year closed, applications for next fall had reached a record pace, suggesting strong future enrollments despite national downward trends.

Stability also is reflected in the PC endowment which now has a market value of $16.4 million—or $17,600 per student.

And further stability comes from the broad-based popular support underscored in this report on 1985 gifts. Alumni support again ranked among the national leaders.

Student life received another boost with the chartering of a campus circle of Omicron Delta Kappa leadership honor society.

Completion of the college self-study was accomplished after almost two years of thorough faculty-staff appraisal of all aspects of the PC operation. It now awaits the March review by the visiting committee of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

One self-study result will be further enrichment of the academic program led by a faculty that grew stronger last year. It now offers a 16 to 1 student-faculty ratio.

Adding to the academic vitality was the year-end appointment of Dr. J. William Moncrief to serve as vice president for academic affairs and dean of the faculty. He will begin his duties here next July.

“You can take pride in the success of the year 1985”

Aaron Copeland, the great American composer who has provided us such magnificent music as “Appalachian Spring” and “Rodeo,” was recently interviewed about his long and illustrious career. When asked if he was content with his years in music, he answered: “I feel not only content with my chosen career—that puts it too mildly—I’ve been enchanted. I feel like a very lucky man.”

While Aaron Copeland’s talents far exceed anything I will ever achieve, I feel a like measure of his gratitude. It has been my privilege for the past 21 years to pursue my chosen career in higher education. A third of this time has been spent as president of Presbyterian College. Like Copeland, I feel like “a very lucky man” to participate in building the strength and quality of this fine college. I believe you as friends and supporters of PC also should feel this same satisfaction. Because of your strong support, you can take pride in the success of the year 1985.

This annual report details the financial record of achievement. Your generous support has totaled a near-record $2,959,797. Of this amount, $926,496 went to the annual support of our ten-million-dollar operating budget. The rest—$2,033,301—was contributed to the growth of endowment and capital projects such as the new Springs Campus Center. With your help our endowment now exceeds $16 million. Our endowment per enrolled student ratio now stands at $17,600 to 1—a new record for PC that far exceeds most American colleges.

In 1985 we received gifts from 2,879 donors, an increase of 7% over the previous year. Alumni support came from an impressive 39% of our former students, an increase of 3% over 1984. This percentage nearly doubles the national average of 20% alumni support of all American colleges and universities. The average alumni gift was $174 compared to the national average of $113 for all colleges or $136 for all private colleges. The Walter Johnson Scotsman Club for athletic support received gifts from 737 persons, the highest number in five years.

On behalf of all of us who are privileged to serve Presbyterian College today, I want to thank each of you whose name we proudly list in this report. You have joined as partners with us in this mission to provide for the continued strength and growth of Presbyterian College. For 105 years this college has been dedicated to a quality and style of education that is committed to the intellectual, moral and social development of our students. We offer both a value-centered and value-added educational experience that lasts for a lifetime.

Pluto once said: "If you ask what is the good education, the answer is easy: that education makes good men and good men act nobly." That is not only our goal but also our record, as seen in the notable careers of our nearly 6,000 alumni who live and work all over the world.

The future is bright for Presbyterian College. Our best years are yet to come! With the help of all good friends and alumni, I believe we can and will continue our pattern of progress through the decade of the eighties. I invite you to continue to join hands with us by your generous support in 1986.

Total 1985 support reaches $2,959,797

Gifts to Presbyterian College from all sources totaled $2,959,797 during calendar year 1985. This amount has been exceeded only twice before, and compares to the 1984 figure of $2,827,638. It represents the fifth time in the last six years that PC support has exceeded the $2.5 million mark.

The Annual Giving program realized a 14 percent increase in setting new records in all directions. Alumni continued to lead the way to the tune of 39 percent participation and a new high in dollars contributed.

The summaries here provide a quick roundup of the support provided from all sources during the past year. It should be noted that total annual funds—combining all current support with the traditional Annual Giving program—are reported at $926,496. This practice will be followed in the future to bring PC Annual Giving in line with the reporting procedures of most other colleges.

On the ensuing pages we present the names of those alumni, parents and friends—the individuals as well as the corporations and foundations—who helped to make 1985 such a resounding success. Their names are listed here in grateful appreciation for what their thoughtful support means to Presbyterian College.

Guardians of Presbyterian College

A new association of individuals known as the Guardians of Presbyterian College provided for the college in their wills last year. Through their bequests, they seek to protect and insure the future of PC as a major resource of the church and society.

The college is grateful to those who permit their names to be listed here as an encouragement to have alumni and friends join them. Other benefactors, preferring to remain anonymous, are designated by general classification. Some are alumni who responded to bequest efforts last year by classes observing special anniversaries.
